

Surgical resection of a metastatic skull tumor from lung cancer

Taiji Kuwata<sup>1</sup>, Teruo Iwata<sup>1</sup>, Takashi Iwanami<sup>1</sup>, and Makoto Kawaguchi<sup>2</sup>

<sup>1</sup>Department of Respiratory Surgery, and <sup>2</sup>Department of Pathology, Niigata Rousai Hospital, Niigata, Japan

---

ABSTRACT

---

We present an interesting case of a metastatic skull tumor from a non-small cell lung cancer that was successfully resected. At present, 1 year after the surgery, the patient is alive with chemotherapy and has not shown any evidence of tumor recurrence.

---

Key words: non-small cell lung cancer, bone metastasis, skull metastasis.

The authors report no conflicts of interest.

Correspondence to: Taiji Kuwata, Department of Respiratory Surgery, Niigata Rousai Hospital, 1-7-12 Touuntyou, Joetsu City, Niigata Prefecture 942-8502, Japan.

Tel +81-25-543-3123;

fax +81-25-544-5210;

email t-kuwata@med.uoeh-u.ac.jp

Received December 12, 2011;
accepted April 18, 2012.